

WANTED: BADASS
Design Associate
(Part-time)

We want a badass who wants to create game-changing designs that solve hunger and that will enable rural communities throughout the Philippines to secure their own food and stand on their own for life!

You will be based: Remote. We're guessing in your room or home office. As long as you have stable internet connection and a computer.

Working with ARK in this capacity will enable you to:

- Create sexy, stunning, cheeky, #rawandreal marketing materials seen by our community and champions from all over the world
- Design pitch decks and event materials to secure win-win partnerships
- Make Toolkits and workshops that anyone with a 3rd grade degree can understand and do on their own
- Manage and keep ARK's Wix website content and design on point so champions can nerd more about why farmers are struggling and ARK's impact and keep sending the link to their circles and potential supporters
- Meet new people and drum up ideas, as you work with a global team and network from Manila to NYC
- GROW and further YOUR DREAMS

You will love the work if you:

- are a GO-GETTER, independent, and loves to get things done.
- enjoy arranging thoughts and ideas into ORGANIZED layouts.
- work in a POSITIVE AND FUN way. You must know at least three jokes.
- want to be PASSIONATE about your path and those around you; and work with a team to achieve IMPACT

Advancement for Rural Kids (ARK) partners with rural communities to create a path to secure their food, kids’ schooling and a sustainable future. Our claim to fame is our innovative P2.50 school lunch, the world’s first & only self-sustaining school lunch. As the pandemic closed down schools and made communities at-risk for hunger and strife, ARK pivoted and created Feed Back - a neighborhood vegetable exchange. This program enables communities to source their food from within and generate excess to sell to nearby villages and towns. Join ARK at the leading edge of social impact: believe in our partners, create markets, and solve for true sustainability and a clear exit.
